

Bryan Ng CS

MSP, IFFPS (USA), BSc (Hon) UK, CA, CIMA, CTM. CL, Satir

He is an international speaker, has effectively helped organisations improve performance through training and consultancy focusing on increasing Personal Effectiveness. He and his team specialize in the areas of Smart Technology, Paradigm Shifting and people management. His technology programs focuses not only on teaching participants to understand technical functions one at a time, but more importantly, his program offers smart tips, practical applications and how one can creatively integrate various functions to create even powerful results.

His diverse experience in management, finance as well as IT knowledge makes his training unique and is very well received by many participants as they now able to link what they learnt to what is required from the management. The techniques learnt will enhance participant's effectiveness at work from day – to day operations to providing useful, speedy information for business decision making. People who attended his training will find his training easy to understand, systematic and practical. He advocates practical, fun and smart learning throughout his training.

He also specializes in coaching individuals and companies in leveraging on common applications such as Excel and PowerPoint to build Financial and Data models in meeting their operations needs. He has worked hand in hand with companies to conduct a series of smart technology programs aiming to equip their team with creative and practical technology skills, raising the productivity immediately.

Being a powerful speaker, he has frequently been invited speak in different overseas countries such as China, Indonesia and Singapore.

An Expert Trainer with a Unique and Rare combination of Financial Background & Technical Expertise!